Presents: TRAUMA AND THE BRAIN:

The Developmental Impact of Trauma in Childhood

Featuring: Frank J. Kros, MSW, JD
President of the Transformation Education Institute
(formerly the Upside Down Organization)

Key discoveries in neuroscience have revealed a more comprehensive and sophisticated understanding of the impact of trauma on the developing brain. The body's physiological response to stress impacts the brain at a highly vulnerable period in its development. This workshop makes neuroscience understandable and accessible to non-scientists so that the importance and usefulness of these brain-based discoveries can be shared and utilized across the helping professions.
